Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Charles Darwin and the Theory of Natural Selection In the following pages I have tried to express a sense of the greatness of my subject by simplicity and directness of statement. The limits of the work necessarily prevented any detailed treatment, the subject of the work prevented originality. We have had the great Life and Letters with us for nine years, and this I have used as a mine, extracting what I believed to be the statements of chief importance for the work in hand, and grouping them so as to present what I hope is a connected account of Darwin s life, when considered in relation to his marvellous work, and especially to the great central discovery of Natural Selection and its exposition in the Origin of Species. In addition to the invaluable volumes which we owe to the industry, taste, and skill of Francis Darwin, an immense number of other works have been consulted. We live in an age of writing, and of speeches and addresses; and the many sides of Darwin s life and work have again and again inspired the ablest men of our time to write and speak their best - a justification for the freedom with which quotations are spread over the following pages.
